I talked with Bob Steele on 1/6/99 and reminded him of his responsibility regarding putting together a reclamation plan for the Nephi Gypsum quarry. We also talked about the bond which we have not received yet. Mr. Steele stated that he had talked to the Bank and the Bank had told him that it was signed, sealed and delivered. I informed him that Wayne Hedberg had not received it as of yet.

We also discussed the need for him to submit us a letter immediately so we could be assured that he would be actively working on a revised reclamation plan for the Nephi Quarry. He stated that he could not get up to the top of the quarry in the winter. I told him that he did not need to do this in order to complete his plan and that it is more important to put together accurate reclamation costs based on current disturbance as shown on existing maps from Nephi Sandstone Corporation (Bruce Evans).

I also told him that he was welcome to come look at examples of good reclamation plans and use us as a resource to complete his reclamation plan, but that this reclamation plan had to be completed by the end of February. I also informed him, as an incentive, that this could possibly save him money. Mr. Steele agreed to draft a response letter and mail it to us by Thursday or Friday of this week.
